The Crop in the Vicinity of Savannah, Ga., Badly Damaged by the Storm.

THE PECUNIARY LOSS IS VERY HEAVY.

Flooded Condition of Country Renders Communication Difficult; Many Places Entirely Cut Off.

The Loss to Shipping is Very Heavy—Docks of Small Craft Were Wrecked—The Beach of Tybee Island Lined with Wrecks.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 2.—While Savannah suffered heavily from the cyclone which swept over this section of the coast Wednesday morning, the damage on the coast islands and the interior, as far as the storm reached is probably greater.

The flooded condition of the country renders communication difficult and in many sections it is entirely cut off and no news has been received to indicate what the conditions are.

The first news from the Carolina Sea islands, which were the scene of the great tidal storm of 1893 in which thousands of persons perished, was received Friday. While the storm was not like that of four years ago the loss is heavy.

The houses on Tybee and the other small settlements all the houses were unroofed and many were destroyed.

The Norwegian bark Bagna, which went ashore on Gaskin bark, was a total wreck Friday. The captain and crew were saved. The bark Noe, in attempting to rescue the crew of which Lieut. Morgan and one of his companions lost their lives, has about disappeared.

Small steamers have patrolled Calabogue sound all day searching for the bodies of the heroic rescuers, but they have not been recovered.

The loss to the rice crop on the Savannah river alone is estimated at $500,000. The cotton and cottons of the crop has been destroyed.

The loss to planters between Savannah and Augusta will run into the hundreds of thousands.

A heavy flood is reported in the upper Savannah river and messengers were sent out from here Friday night to warn planters of its approach.

The cotton crop in the counties adjoining is reported to be entirely ruined.

Beaufort, S. C., Sept. 2.—The schooner May O'Neil is ashore on Richards Island. The schooner G. C. Foss with main and mizzen masts gone, is ashore on Hunting Island.

The schooner S. D. J. Rawson arrived at quarantine station Thursday night, dismasted, in tow of the tug Juno. The schooner Nelson Bartlett, dismasted, is ashore on Edisto Island. A schooner name unknown, is ashore at South Edisto. The brig Ventura is inside Port Royal bar. The crews of all the vessels named are safe.

WATERY GRAVES.

Four Young Ladies of a Party of Pleasure Seekers Drowned in Freshet Isle Bay, Erie, Pa.

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 3.—By the accidental jibing of the sail of a pleasure yacht on Freshet Isle, in the early evening four young women were swept off the water and drowned before assistance could be rendered them. Their names are: Mary, Delia and Ella Paradise, daughters of Wm. Paradise, an Erie machinist; and Jessie Moore, daughter of John H. Moore, an engineer of the Erie & Pittsburgh railroad.

The unfortunate girls formed a party of a party of pleasure seekers who were boating in a sail upon the lake Carmencita. The boat had but a few moments before departed from the head of the bay, sailing free before a light but puffy wind. The four girls named were seated upon the roof of the yacht cabin when a sudden puff of wind coming down from the wooded shore, an unexpected direction, sent sail jibed, and the four off to the water. As quickly as possible the yacht was put about, but with what the headway obtained and the light wind it was impossible to reach the spot in time to save any of the girls. The bodies have not yet been recovered.

Not Since the Fall of Sedan Has France Been So Overwhelmed—Col. Henry's Forged Letter.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Among the many wild rumors floating about Friday was one that some one stole into Col. Henry's cell and assassinated him.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—A special to the Evening Standard from Paris published Friday afternoon, says the French cabinet has decided on a revision of the Dreyfus case.

It was reported Friday afternoon by the Patria that several officers of the general staff have decided to resign shortly and divulge all they know of the entire Dreyfus affair.

The Loss to Shipping is Very Heavy—Docks of Small Craft Were Wrecked—The Beach of Tybee Island Lined with Wrecks.

GEN. BOISDEFRE.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—A dispatch to the Tribune says: Col. Henry's confession of having forged the famous document upon the authenticity of which Gen. de Boisdeffre, chief of staff of the French army, in his impassioned appeal to the jury in the Zola trial staked his own reputation and the honor of the army and Col. Henry's defense. The trial of Montvalence, who caused an emotion throughout France which has not been witnessed since the fall of Sedan.

Col. Henry, a peasant's son, promoted from the ranks and imbued with all the instincts, low-cunning and narrow personal animosity often characteristic of French peasants, had no conception of the entirety of the criminal and venal conduct of the dreyfus affair.

This brave but infatuated chief of the intelligence department of the French army embodied the whole head and front of Dreyfus' conviction, of Zola's condemnation, of Esterhazy's acquittal and of Pieguart's degradation and imprisonment.

The most pessimistic feelings exist.

The French and German are on the eve of war and the consequence of the Dreyfus scandal will involve France in war with Germany.

The government is doing its best to stem the rising tide of apathy by a studied quiescence which scandalizes the Journal des Debates and other papers; but it may succeed in getting over the crisis. M. Faure ignores the reprobation of the press and remains at home.

In the meantime M. Cavagnac, minister of war, and M. Sarrion, minister of justice, are busy enough. M. Sarrion had two prolonged conferences with M. Brisson Friday afternoon, and after M. Cavagnac's long interview with M. Sarrion, both ministers looked round. The two other important ministers in conference were devoted to an endeavor to convince the minister of war of the necessity on political grounds of a revision of the Dreyfus case, which the whole country, including the army, now demands.

High officers confess that the discussions that will follow revision will probably entail war, but they say that war would be preferable to having the army remain under a cloud, with the possibilities of agitation leading to civil strife.

BLAMES CERVERA.

Not Since the Fall of Sedan Has France Been So Overwhelmed—Col. Henry's Forged Letter.

RANK DISOBEDIENCE OF ORDERS.

Claimed That by Cervera Disobeying Orders, the Whole Character of the War Was Changed.

He Was Ordered From Martingue to Hispaniola, But Instead Went to Santo Domingo de Cuba and Locked His Fleet in the Harbor.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—From a responsible diplomatic source it is learned that Adm. Cervera will be court-martialed upon his return to Spain and in all probability severely reprimanded or degraded in the course of this trial. This action will undoubtedly arouse the chivalrous sympathy of Americans against the Spanish ministry. The trial of Cervera, however, is not merely a cloak to hide the administrative weakness of Spain in the late war. It appears that the heroic Spanish admiral was actually guilty of direct disobedience of orders from Madrid, disobedience which changed the whole character of the war.

The Spanish commission, which corresponded to the war board at Washington, had prepared a definite plan of campaign. Adm. Cervera was ordered to proceed to Martingue, where he was informed of the position of Sampson's ships. From Martingue he was ordered to Havana by a certain course which he could have reached at several points by dispatch and supply ships. All he would have had to do to carry out the plan was to Cervera's departure from Martingue. No sooner had the Cape Verde fleet left Martingue than the Spanish board realized the futility of any naval operations in Cuban waters. This may seem a remarkable statement, but it is a positive fact that dispatch boats were sent to Sampson's ships at Martingue to inform him of the change of plan and order him to the Philippines.

Gen. Cervera, however, did not accept the plan and, according to the Spanish naval authorities, that Cervera will undoubtedly be found guilty and will be degraded.

The whole story gives a curious insight into the seeming lack of executive force at Madrid, and shows that the authorities at the last moment recognized the hopelessness of accomplishing anything in American waters. It thus appears that the first light on the Spanish naval situation at a most critical moment of the campaign.

From Martingue he was ordered to Havana by a certain course which he could have reached at several points by dispatch and supply ships. All he would have had to do to carry out the plan was to Cervera's departure from Martingue. No sooner had the Cape Verde fleet left Martingue than the Spanish board realized the futility of any naval operations in Cuban waters. This may seem a remarkable statement, but it is a positive fact that dispatch boats were sent to Sampson's ships at Martingue to inform him of the change of plan and order him to the Philippines.

Gen. Cervera, however, did not accept

Mr. Schomberg Kerr McDonnell, the present private secretary, left London for the continent to submit to Lord Salisbury a copy of the treaty.

Gov. Bradley Accompanies the Hospital Train to Chickamauga—All Sick Soldiers Will Be Brought Back.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 3.—The two hospital corps for sick soldiers relief trains left here Friday night. The Chickamauga corps will be provided with a special train of five sleepers at Knoxville. Newport News train will consist of seven sleepers. They expect to have all sick Kentuckians home by Tuesday night. The state arsenals and depots will be used as a temporary hospital for sick soldiers as have no regular home or find it impossible to be taken home.

Gov. Bradley decided Friday night to accompany Chickamauga hospital train. He believes there are many more really sick Kentuckians than those hospital reports show and he will insist that all who are ill be returned whether they are in the hospital or not. The state will have a personal inspection of all Kentucky soldiers and has given similar instructions to those in charge of the Newport News train, so that it is probable many Kentucky soldiers will be brought home than was anticipated.

The Kentucky Association Will Hold Forth in January.

GET YOUR RENLETS READY.

In the past few years there has been great improvement in the poultry industry in the state, some sections doing away almost entirely with set stock and are now breeding only pure breeds.

To more successfully carry on this work of improvement about three years ago the breeders from different parts of the state met at Louisville and organized the Kentucky State Poultry Association, which was incorporated under the state laws, exempting the members of the Association from any liability for the debts of the association, inhibiting the officers and members from deriving any pecuniary benefit from the Association, so that any set of officers or members could not profit by the affairs of the Association to the benefit of their personal interests.

The membership is not confined to the poultry breeders, and any person of good character, taking an interest in the development of the poultry industry, can be a member of the association, the annual membership being one dollar each year.

The Executive Committee is so distributed over the state as to give all sections a fair representation, the annual show being held in Louisville.

The third annual show will be held January 16th-18th, 1898, and promises to be a great success, each year showing more marked improvement and greater interest.

The Association was not organized in the interest of any set of breeders, but for the general advancement of the poultry interests and for the commercial advancement of the state.

The annual premium list will be issued in November. Membership fee or application for premium list will be sent to W. J. Driven, Secretary, Louisville.

The management of the Association is in good hands and should have hearty support.

Bad Blood Is a Good Thing to be rid of, because bad blood is the breeding place of disfiguring and dangerous diseases. Is your blood bad? It is if you are plagued by pimples or bothered by boils, if your skin is blotched by eruptions or your body eaten by sores and ulcers. You have good blood, which is pure blood, if you want it. You can be rid of pimples, boils, blotches, sores and ulcers. How? By the use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

It is the radical remedy for all diseases originating in the blood. Read the evidence:

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me by my physician as a blood purifier. When I began taking it I had boils all over my body, and my complexion was dark. Wm. Davis, Miss.

"After six years' suffering from blood poison, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and though I have had boils of this kind since, the sores have nearly all disappeared." — A. A. Manning, Houston, Texas.
